Unanimity. At a time in our history like the present-when credit and confidence are almost destroyed and business is at a standstill-when men and families who have withstood the trials and vicios.tudes of the last eight years have begun to despair of an improvement and are preparing to leave our shores-and when we are about to experience the greatest political change that can come upon a country -there should be no division of sentiment or distraction of ideas. That there are no political parties in either Colony, we take for granted. All old lastes are dead and ought to be buried. The new Government will inaugurate a new policy for the country, and should sock to reconcile old differences, to restore confidence to the downnearted, to strengthen the Weak, and to infuse new life and energy into every channel of industry. They should endeavor to lighten taxes, to lower import duties, to reduce the expenses of Government, and at the same time see that public improvements are pushed forward and the country thrown open for settlement and development. We do not say that the new Government will bring these things about; but we do say that these are a lew of the duties that will develve on them as servants of the Crown, and which as men sworn to do their whole duty they are bound by their oaths to perform. Before we discovered that Union was rendered inevitable by the removal of the permissive clause from the inequitable Union Bill, we had determined to oppose it strenuously, more particularly it Mr Seymour was to be Governor; because we knew, as we still contend, that the Bill oid not secure to Vancouver Is and its rights, and because we believed that Governor Seymour was personally inimical to us. Anticipating these results, we offered an opposition to the Unconditional Union resolutions at the time they passed the Assembly, and when men who are today loudest-mouthed in their denunciations of the measure, and are talk ing or writing treason daily, were among their greatest champions. But now that the resolutions have taken the form of an Act of Parliament, which is about to be enforced here, no person of honesty or sense will fail to see that further resistance is useless, and that, bad as the measure may be, we must accept it. So long as the bill was before Parliament, every honorable exertion was put forward to have it thrown out; but now that it has been placed on the statute books of the country is not the time to rebel against it. We must accept it. To equalize its provisions should be our constant aim; but while each may entertain his own views as to its merits, personal resentments and bearthurnings should be smothered party lines erased; men should cease prating about Annexation-which the most sensible among them know can never be consummated—and try to be unanimous in an effort to accept what we cannot decline, and make the best of it. Let the past be buried and let all strive by the adoption of a wise and conciliatory course to convert our enemies into friends. Possessing a deep interest in the material progress of these Colonies-writing with a ful knowledge of the fact that if we follow the path we are now on, the country will be so lest that the youngest man among us may not live to witness a favorable reaction-we call on people who have their all a istake here to accept things as they are; to drop local bickerings and jealousies, to stamp out the last spark of disloyalty in the country, and 'o make a upanimous effort to push the country in the right direction. Union we have. Let us accept it as a "last chance," and with a determination to do our whole duty to the country, believing that when we do so we are doing the best for ourselves. In no other way can we hope to extricate ourselves from the position in which bad legislation and expensive govern-

The Petersburg Journal expresses the opinion that the secondary States have reason to feel anxions since the publication of the French foreign official circular. The writer intimates that Russia does not see such a severance of alliance or prospects of new alliance as are indicated by the French Emperor. A Paris ournal, in an article on the subject of the Russian American alliance, contends that nothing of moment can result from the move-The financial political, and social standing of Russia are treated very severely in a few lines.

Several other Victorians are in the diggings, doing well. A Canadian, named Ham, has a hydraulic claim for which he has refused $4500. Many leads of quartz have been discovered that are believed to be rich. Our informants are enthusiastic in their description of Kootenay, and express their opinion that it will turn out to be the richest mining BLACKFOOT Mr McLean crossed to Blackfoot last fall and wintered at Diamond City, in Confeder ate Gulch. He saw John McClellan, the British Columbian who discovered the gulch and made $250,000 out of his claim. He was quite poor, having "gone through" with his pile. The diggings were very shallow and were all worked out before Mr McLear got there. The country was overcrowded with people; grub was cheap, but there was no money to buy anything with and the misery among the miners was very great.

SASKATCHEWAN A number of men have left Kootenay for he Saskatchewan diggings, which are believed to be rich. One party of five miner had been attacked and three of them killed by Blackfoot Indians. Fears are expressed for the safety of Macdonald's party of six prospectors, who left Kootenay for Saskatchewan about two months ago. London and its Associations. I took a steamer from Newcastle to London, and on Sunday afternoon stepped from the boat at Tower wharf and stood in the streets of London. I could not move on at first, but stood there, trying to clear my mind of the bawildering emotions which rushed upon me and foreing myself to answer the question if it was a reality that I at last benefit before me the goal of which I had dreamed so many yeurs; if I had at last reached London, the wonder and pride of the world, a city filled above all others with quaint and romantic legends world-tamous the its historical interests, and the home of quanti and romantic legends world-amous for its historical interests, and the home of the greatest among men. It seemed a dream that I stood under the shadow of that grim Tower of London, at whose history I had shuddered years ago. When I gathered my senses and began to look about me. I found assistant and the shadow of the state of the stat Europe.

Turning from this dismal place, I planged into the city, and walked along the most grotesque and abourd little streets, rejoicing in such names as "Crutched Priars" "Mincing" and "Pudding" lanes. In "Little East Cheap" I looked out for the 'tavern where "Flagstaff" and young "Prince Henry," had their revels, but no signs remained of the "Boar's Hend Tavern," though I bought some ale at the "Golden Cock" and made believe that it was the same house as that of which Shakswas the same house as that of which Shakspeare wrote. Farther on I reached the great thoroughfares which run like rivers through the city, and my ears were numbed by the roar of passing freight. Even on the Sabbath there was little cessation, and many of the shops, with all the saloons and g of the shops, with all the saloobs and gin palaces, were open and flourishing. St. Pauls, notwithstanding all I had read and imagined of its greatness, was overwhelming. I was at a loss which to admit most, the building or the mind that could conceive it. Its exterior is so expansive and its dome so lofty that my eye refused to take in its proportions at the first glance, but so continually returned to travel slowly over its enormous sides. Service was being rendered as I passed, and I stepped in for a moment to ear the rich organ and the notes of the choir rolling through the aisles and chapele of the vast exterior.

Temple Bar, where the heads of decapi-tated people were struck up a century ago, still blocks up Fleet street with its massive area. This Bar which was once the gate of the city, is now sourrounded for five miles on all sides with bricks and smoke.

THE FUTURE OF DIPLOMATISTS .-- What is to me of the whole diplomatic service when all the small kingdoms are annexed, and but three or four monarchies remain in Europe? When people ceased to wear brass buttons, the button makers addressed themselves to another tranch of industry, and made fishing books; but ministers plenipotentiary cannot make fishing hooks—indeed, I believe they make islaing hooks—indeed, I believe they cannot make anything at all and a more incapable set of creatures in the matter of self support it would be, difficult to conceive. It is often remarked that in times of commercial pressure, when some great crisis occurs in the pressure, when some great crists occurs in the staffirs of a country, no people suffer so much as those engaged in the production of what are called "taney articles." The staple of life will always be in request, while men can, for a while at least, dispense with the taste ful or ornamental. Now, of all the fancy selves to do without, what is there like diplo selves to do without, what is there like diplo macy I-of course I mean English diplomacy for toreigners who make war and alliances need people to draw up the documents that regard these things; but we who only ro-monstrate, entreat, weakly suggest or occamonstrate, entreat, weathy suggest or occa-sionally express a hope, what do we want with all this expensive staff, which begins with a minister and ends with a messenger? You talk of abolishing the Irish Church be-cause it has few followers, but diplomacy has no believers. Out of that dreary old building at Whitehall, where they make up the bags and scold the messengers, there is not a man in the kingdom who believes in a plenipotentiary. The fact is about to prove itself. The groupings will soon show the world that it can go on without weekly or monthly chronicles, which, if only insetted in a periodical, would swamp the best edited journal in England. And now, what shall we do with these people, who will soon be thrown helpless and powerless upon our hands? What art or industry is there which can absorb them? After lives of *emi-droxsy state, with a sort of Druy Lane dignity, what are they fit for? no believers. Out of that dreary old building After fives of semi-droxsy state, with a sort of Drury Lane dignity, what are they fit for? Their hands are too line for coarse labour, and what can we employ them at? Discharged soldiers become commissionaries and disbarred lawyers take to the Stock Exchange, but what luture is there to the unemployed diplomatist? In this age of woman's rights, one is naturally unwilling to intrude on a territory niready too crowded, otherwise I would suggest that these ex-envoys might be engaged to chaperone young ladies, or beevery warranty that an anxious or jealous public would naturally require. At all events, let us not manufacture any more of an article that is out of mote. The world has taken to wear covered buttons—there is no

In Again .- John Clerhue was charged yesterday by a true son of the Green Isle, named McCarthy, with stealing a gold dollar piece, two half dollars and a gold specimens of the value of $20 and upwards, the proper-ty of Mr Buttiil. The complainant stated the circumstances under which the valuables were missed and swore that no other person save the prisoner had access to the premises. During his examination complainant though an honest, straightforward man amused the court with some genuine Hibernicisms. Mr Pemberton-When did you see the

Witness-Mrs Buttril showed me the specimens and put them in the corner of a

Mr Pemberton-But when did you last see them there?

Mr Pemberton-I don't want to know when Mr-Bottril saw them. Have you not two eyes? Witness-No sir, only one. (Laughter.) Mr Pemberton-Well, with that one eye you can perhaps see as well as other people can with two. Fix the time when you last saw the things yourself. Witness-It was before Mrs Bottril went to Cowidgin. (Laughter).

Mr Pemberton-Well, when was that? Witness-Sure that was in July, but Misther Bottril has been down since, and he may have taken them away. (Laughter)

The prisoner pleaded not guilty. man named McLean was examined, respecting the search made in the drawers, and the discovery of only a $20 piece and a bogus half dollar. Inspector Welch stated that the prisoner after being duly cautioned admitted having slept that night in the room and although he pleaded ignorance admitted that the case looked bad against him. Prisoner on being addressed by the Magistrate said he would stand his trial if he was remanded for twelve months.

THE ROW ON GOVERNMENT STREET .- TWO sailors, named Mitchell and Carter, were brought up yesterday in the Police Court, charged with wantonly assaulting Nelson B. Hughes, a cripple, and with breaking a window at Mr Lohse's store. The complainant stated the nature of the assault and the injuries he had sustained, but said the men were under the influence of liquor, and he generously wished to withdraw the charge of assault upon the damage being made good. The Master-at-Arms gave the men a good character, one of them wearing the good character badge. The Magistrate said this was another of those cases in which he felt disposed to deal legiently. The prisoners had occasion to be very thankful to the prosecutor for not pressing the charge, and, hoping it would be a warning to them, he should discharge them. The accused expressed their sorrow for what had occurred and left the

"NECTAR FIT FOR THE GODS."-Grelly & Fiterre have favored us with a case of "Napoleon Cabinet and Bouché Champagne, from Bouche Fils & Co., which we confidently recommend to the public as " nectar fit for the gods." Our staff having drank the healths of the donors, if there be anything particularly brilliant in this day's issue, i should be attributed to the influence of the delightful beverage. As the poet sang of the "old arm chair," so we sing of the Na-

We love it, we love it, and who shall dare,
To chide us for loving—a thing so rare.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

Scrofula, or king's kivil, is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth, and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, cruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases: consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, ariso from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this burking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in cine we supply in

AYER'S Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this every-where prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as ERIPTIVE and SKIN DISEASES, ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, ROSE, OF ERYSIFELAS, PIMPLES, PUSTILES, BLOTCHES, BLAINS and BOILS, TEMOIS, TETTER, and SALD HEAD, RINGWOIM, RHEUMATISM, SYMILLITE and MERCURIAL DISEASES, DROPSY, DYSPESIA, DEBILITY, and, indeed, ALL COMPLAINTS ARISING FROM VITIATED OR IMPURE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood," is founded in truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Aver's Cathartic Pills.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search, and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named la, pleased to furnish gratis my American Almaine, containing certificates of their cures, and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costveness, Heartburn, Headache arising from a disordered Shomach, Nausca, Indigstion, Pain in and Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatiliency, Loss of Apottle, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR THE RAPID CURE, OF Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so namerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and daugerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gainity have failed and been discarded, this has gainity directly conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.
